

The Pregnant Month

If March is temperamental, it should be well understood,
for she has a right to her capricious moods.
The whims of her condition are akin to motherhood,
which entitles her to her facetious feuds.

Having borne the seed within her through the months of wintry stress, her impatience indicates her time is near.
Now she longs to hold the tender grass against her loving breast,
yet the dread of pending frost brings signs of fear.

So she hastens her frustrations to express in varied forms,
as she blusters and she flusters and she fumes.
And her mood reflects contentment or resentment in her storms,
as the life within her stirs and seeks to bloom.

The moment is ripe to bring about new blossoming! We are into a new month, 3/07, which is a “10” month (3 + 7). Astrologists tell us that 10 is a powerful number for materializing what one imagines. Also, 10 breaks down to a “1”, which stands for new beginnings. That is always a hopeful thought. We are ready for new beginnings, are we not? What better time to start creating the world we want to live in?

How do we do this? First, we need to understand the creative process and our involvement in it. We are creators. Our thoughts create; our words create, our dreams and intentions create. We have powers most of us do not realize we have. And yet we use these powers constantly. The problem is, we use them subconsciously and wonder why things happen as they do.

The Great Central Source, which you might call “God” or any one of dozens of other names, has left a flame of His creative power within each one of us. He/She also gave us free will to use this power in accordance with our individual needs or desires. This was to be restrained only by our “life contract” or agreement to follow the life plan that we designed for ourselves, with the aid of our guidance, in order to grow in accordance with the spiritual goals that we are seeking. With the knowledge that experience is the greatest teacher, we wove into our life plan the new or repeated experiences we felt would lead to this growth.

This would have made a relatively easy path had we not forgotten our divine nature and seen ourselves as separate from our Maker. We created an ego and blindsided ourselves by believing this egocentric self was our true nature, leaving our Creator out of the picture. So here we are, creating chaos in our lives and in our world, without a clue that we are doing it all to ourselves. We throw out all these chaotic thought forms into the ethers where they congregate with all the chaotic thought forms of our brothers and sisters and form a mass consciousness that filters down into our minds, affecting each and every one of us. It is time we realize we have created a monster. Now, what to do about it?

What attributes do you associate with the great creative power of the All That-Is? We are an offshoot of that power, and it is time we began to emulate it. The ego we have created is a false entity and needs to be released. It is too confused to know what is expected of it anyway. Let it go back into neutral energy to be used in a better manner. Now we must allow that flame of God-energy inside our heart to be our guide and listen to its holy wisdom, letting ourselves live the experiences the Godhead would like to live through us.

To get back to March 2007, a month of new beginnings, remember that thoughts, words, and intentions, fired by emotions, are powerful creative forces. Use this combined force to manifest what you want in your world. Do you want peace, harmony, love, and joy in your world? Visualize that. Enforce it with peaceful, harmonious, loving and joyous thoughts and words. Find those qualities within you, and let them flow out.

Remember that everything in creation is simply light energy, vibrating in a unique frequency to form matter or situations envisioned, in other words, vibrating in synchronicity with your thoughts.

Now, isn't that a challenge! Guard your thoughts. Take command over them. See yourself as a master creator creating your dreams. But realize you are not a separate entity; you are connected to all other beings on Earth, so wish good also for your brothers and sisters. You have the power to influence the effects of the mass consciousness, containing all thought forms. Let it begin with you!

First we must change our own vibrations by changing our negative thoughts to positive thoughts and feelings. Then, one by one, we can change the vibrations of the collective consciousness to fit the mold we envision for the world!

Create peace. Create harmony. Create brotherly love. Create joy--one thought at a time. Enforce it by imaging. The time has come. The astronomical support is with us now. The Divine Grace of the Creator is ours for the asking. Together we can change our world!

Molding My World

My world is but a crystal ball,
reflecting patterns of my thought.
It's up to me to make the call to manifest my dreams or not.

When I am feeling full of joy,
with gratitude within my soul,
my thoughts and senses will reflect the visions that create my goal.

But if I play the victim role
and send my doubts into the world,
reflected back within my soul,
my fears and dreads will be unfurled.

So when I plant the seeds of peace
and love and joy and harmony,
my crystal globe will then release
and send these treasures back to me.
