

Thoughts to Ponder

Entering the Age of Enlightenment

Your universe is racing toward a new beginning. The Mayan calendar stops at December 2012. Many gloom-and-doomers have considered this date as marking the end of the world. In truth, it was meant to mark the beginning of a new world, a world of peace and harmony, and a world where time and calendars are no longer relevant. The word time is meaningless in the higher realms where the ETERNAL NOW is the only time there is. But you do not have to wait for 2012 to begin living in the now.

It is all a matter of consciousness. As your frequency rises, allowing you to survive in the fifth dimensional environment to which you are headed, time as you know it will simply fade away. As you learn to put thoughts of past and future out of mind and focus only on the moment, most of the limitations you have put upon yourselves will disappear. There will be no regrets, no fear of failure, no worries about what lies ahead. What you are doing, thinking, being at the moment is all that matters. Think what it will mean not to be bound by the clock. Consider how freeing that will be.

On a soul level, you have already made the choice to ascend into a higher consciousness or to continue in a world of duality. Free will is always honored, and every being has been given a choice. Deep down you know what choice you have made. Mother Earth has chosen to go into the Light. If you are to go with her and wish to take your body with you, then you must release all the dark areas of your being: resentments, anger, envy, doubts, self-condemnation, hatred, and any other negative thought patterns that are holding you back. You can simply give all of these to God and let Him take care of them. If they come back from time to time, picture a flame of violet transmuting light and toss the thoughts into it. Then fill the empty spaces within you with love energy.

Perhaps you are worrying too much about raising your vibrational frequency. You can read or hear all kinds of instructions for doing this. Some may be helpful, but please don't work at them. If it seems like work to you, you are accomplishing nothing. If the exercise is enjoyable, it is no doubt helpful. Or you can just allow your consciousness to dwell on love, compassion, gratitude, and your interconnection with all that is. Filter out any thoughts that do not serve you. Let your eyes see only the beauty around you and your ears hear only pleasant sounds.

Freely ask for help with this from your loving friends in the higher realms. Much light and love is already being beamed down upon you, perhaps more than in any previous age of transformation. You do not have to ask for forgiveness for any so-called sins you may have committed. You have only to forgive yourself and to love yourself for what you have learned from your many choices and for who you are. Love yourself, too, for the courage to have come to Earth and experienced all the challenges you have had to meet in your determination to grow.

Know that all of your brothers and sisters in the heavenly realms are rooting for you and calling you home. The Age of Enlightenment is upon you. Accept it with joyous expectation.

Humanity's March

The flame of passion now grows strong as fervor peaks among the throng
whose cry for unity rings loud,
awakening the sleeping crowd
to oneness, peace, and love for all.

It's time for change, so heed the call of those who seek for love and light
and have a future in their sight:
a world of peace and harmony.

Who see in all humanity
the need for self esteem, respect—
no more to suffer from neglect—
and knowledge of each other's worth.

It's time to give this theme rebirth.
So let's proclaim throughout the world,
the flag of freedom has unfurled.
we all are equal; we are strong.
united, we will join the throng.

We are connected; we are one.
The new world era has begun.
A new Earth waits, so take the helm
and steer the way to Heaven's realm.
